Mr. Gangloff,

I see you cover the legal world in the NRV and I have a multi-million dollar embezzlement story if you are interested.

It covers several years and I have yet to ever share it with any media. I recently got to the bottom of it. It is woven into two other related and more interesting legal stories you may be interested in also.

My schedule is pretty flexible if you are interested. I am in Christiansburg by 81 close to Shelors usually.

Regards,

Jim Jones

CEO,

Lifeline Ambulance Service, Inc.

Hello, Jim-- Thanks for your email. I would be interested to hear about this embezzlement. Would sometime early next week work for you?

Regards,

Mike,

That works good for me, I'm flexible for the whole weeks and actually down the street from Hubble. You can reach out when it fits in your schedule. Look forward to visiting.

Thanks

Hello, Jim – I'm sorry to say that your email slipped into the email drifts and I got too wrapped up in other stories to find time to get back to you. But this week looks much more open. Do you have any time tomorrow morning or Wednesday or Thursday that we might talk?

Thanks,

Mike, Wed or Thursday works better for me if that's okay with you. No apologies, I know how projects are.

Thanks, it's 310 Bell, 1 block to the left of Hubble lighting. I'm in a door on the side of the building across from the ambulance you will see. There will be a gray Ford Edge by the door. See you then.

Mike,

You left the code of Va. on the corner of the desk, in case you need it. That bank subpoena Skewes requested revealed $204,000 went thru that account in 2005 & $190,000 in 2004. I'm told malpractice and the County will cover the damages. After I met Larry I read up on that subject and found a statement from one of his colleagues that said, " These people are a lot of fun to be around until they don't get what they want – watch out."

Take Care & Have a good weekend.

Jim

Hello, Jim: Thanks again for walking me through the particulars of your case or cases – like you said, it's an unusual experience that you've gone through. I have spoken to my editor about it and we're going to monitor the appeal that you have in circuit court but not go farther with a story at this point. Obviously if there are criminal charges or some other major development, we would take another look at coverage.

Please send me a heads-up on appeal hearings or other new facets of the situation. I will keep an eye on the court filings as well when I'm in the clerk's office.

Best wishes,
